Jim Whitmire was as a deacon at the Forest Park Church of Christ in Atlanta, Georgia for ten years. He was responsible for producing material for the Pacific Islands Bible College. Then, in 1998, he was appointed as an elder. His primary responsibilities included oversight of the education program, local outreach, and member involvement. He served for eight years before retiring to north Georgia. Jim has participated in 13 mission trips to the Pacific islands and Nicaragua. He has served on the boards of Georgia Agape and Atlanta Bible Camp, and continues to serve on the board of Lads to Leaders. Drawing on his experience, Jim authored Congregational Leadership 101: A Practical Guide for Current and Future Leaders in 2011. He applies this material as an Instructor for the Georgia School of Preaching, and he uses it to conduct leadership seminars. Jim retired as a program manager for the Department of Defense in 2008.
